TO THE ELECTORS

OF THE Electoral Division of Brandon

GENTLEMEN:—

Having accepted the nomination of the Conservative Government for the electoral division of Brandon, though reluctant to enter public life, yet desirous of serving my country and my party, I am now before you as a candidate to represent your suffrages in the next Parliament in the Province of Manitoba.It is almost unnecessary for me to say that I am a life-long Conservative, and a staunch supporter of Sir John A. Macdonald and his Government. I believe it to be the best interests of this province that we should continue to co-operate with those who have made us and our country what we are to-day, namely, THE GREAT CONSERVATIVE PARTY OF THE DOMINION, thereby promoting British interests in Canada and the continued development and advancement of the great Canadian North-West.I hold that it is the duty of our party to adopt every constitutional means within our reach to procure for this Province every right of self government and other advantages enjoyed by the other Provinces of the Dominion under the British North America Act. I deprecate the action of those who are endeavoring to stir up a spirit of discontent amongst our people by raising false issues, thereby attempting to secure the reins of Government at the expense of our country's welfare.I am of opinion that the rights of Manitoba can be better secured and maintained by the return to Parliament of men like myself who are in accord with the Central Government, and who have no motive in being elected other than to serve, to the best of their ability, as I pledge myself to do, their constituents and their country.If elected, I will advocate the strictest economy, consistent with efficiency, in the public expenditure, and, at all times, you will find me ready to advance the interests of the large and influential electoral Division of Brandon, in which, as most of you are aware,
I have large landed and pecuniary interests.I hope, before the day of election, to make a personal canvass throughout the Division and hold meetings, at which I will more fully express my views upon the several questions
now being agitated before the people.I remain, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
J. E. WOODWORTH.

The Brandon Daily Mail.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 12, 1933.

While endeavoring to do justice to Mr. David Glass, that is natural justice, the types took some verbal privileges yesterday morning, but these errors as will be seen under our Errata heading has in no way assisted the candidature of the professed acrobat whose polished record the Mail will most truthfully show up to the good people of Minneapolis.

Our contemporary, whom we are welcome to patronize rather than challenge, still insists that the C.P.R. is in danger. It appears to our magnificent contemporary that the British Columbia traffic will be diverted to San Francisco. It is rather odd when our esteemed emulsion raises a racket on the Pacific slope. The other evening it appeared to our contemporary that British Columbia is the poorest and meanest Province in the Dominion. What is now the reason that our contemporary is particularly solicitous?

The meeting at Verdun has demonstrated an ordinary fact, and one not at all extraordinary to Mr. Sifton. The fact is that Mr. Sifton in Brandon really has a popularity that Mr. David Glass with his polished persuasion dare not even attempt. Mr. Sifton, even if he is the opponent of Mr. Woodworth, is not entirely Mr. David Glass. Mr. Sifton is a citizen of Brandon, and although he and Mr. Woodworth are rural candidates in an election, it must not be forgotten that Mr. Sifton, although a candidate is not wholly Mr. Glass. In Mr. Sifton, we find there is something of fairness after all, but Heaven must defend us from the political flattery of a David Glass.

Amid the pressure of many things somewhat foreign to the wording, but not to the spirit of the various issues which have not been raised between the Mail and Mr. David Glass, but which come up rather as a sensible conclusion by sensible men, it might have appeared to Mr. Sifton that his name in the Public Accounts of the Province are unfortunately connected, with the David, whose polished surface suggests the name of Glass. It is no fault of Mr. Sifton, that Mr. Glass is essentially a doubter of facts, nor should Mr. Sifton be required to aid in any manner Mr. Glass, for the simple reason that there exists no adequate reasons. If there is any bond of sympathy between Mr. Glass and Mr. Sifton, there would be no harm in Mr. Sifton repudiating Mr. Glass, but so long as Mr. Sifton insists upon proving that Mr. Glass is a particular champion of Mr. Sifton, there is no reason why a few votes should be cast for him.

The children of Israel, who last spring made Winnipeg their home, are at present in very destitute circumstances. Some were so reduced before their condition became known, that for several days they had been without food or fuel. They are found in request at having left their homes in the old world, to come to a country they appear to be utterly unprepared for, but one cause, and the main one, of the present distress, is the sudden loss of their wages. During the summer they allowed the golden opportunities to pass them by, and often refused work at remunerative wages, and in cases where they accepted the task set before them, they proved to be such inveterate idlers, that invariably a dismissal followed in a few hours. Now they are reaping the reward of the sluggard, and if the benevolent citizens of Winnipeg, had not come to their assistance many of them would have perished miserably.

"What can be more oppressive or dishonest than to have a farmer paying taxes, not only on his own property, but on a school section, a syndicate section and on two or three thousand sections before he can have a road built past his own property." And then spouts Mr. Glass, "In addition, the Hudson Bay Company comes in free from extra taxes of public or private nature. What does the polished, the exquisite Mr. Glass mean by taxes of a public or private nature? The idea of taxes levied for a private or public nature? In other words he declares, non-immunized Glass, there are three and sometimes four and five unoccupied and untaxed sections for every section occupied and taxed, causing heartburning, discouragement and in many cases despair, when there should be encouragement, thrift and prosperity, and in addition to this the Government inspectors are abroad on the Government concession lines spring out who by chance or necessity may go upon those untaxed premises to cut the needed firewood for their homes or else for feeding their property, and upon the slightest provocation they are hunted like poachers and the terrors of the law brought to bear upon them. This must be changed and that quickly. The only comment the Mail has to make in this connection is that Mr. David Glass is endeavoring to make a point for himself. Let it be remembered that it was the self same David Glass who helped to frame the very law of which he now makes complaint, that he assented and authorized the very principles he now condemns, and that when it was in his power to check anything that might have been to Mr. Glass' advantage, he had not the manhood nor the courage nor the honesty to do so. He was depending upon what he could obtain, and his patriotism and his poverty were a merchantable commodity then as they are an unmerchantable commodity now.

INTER-PROVINCIAL.

Clipped from Exchanges.

So far they there are only thirty-seven electors legally qualified to vote or at least to take the oath if administered, that they have paid their taxes. The amount of taxes paid in to date is $652.90. If all taxes are not paid in within fifteen days from this date, the law compels the clerk to collect by distress.—International.

The new Chief Justice left for Winnipeg last Wednesday, and Mr. Justice Taylor will follow in a few days. They have an immense amount of work ahead of them, and it is probable that, with their well-known assiduity, they will soon clear the docket and restore order out of chaos.

The Temperance Coffee House was opened in Winnipeg on Wednesday night by an entertainment given by the I. O. G. T., the spacious hall being crowded to its utmost. From present indications the affair will be a grand success, and if it but helps to curtail the quantity of liquor consumed in the metropolis, its mission will not be in vain.

The C.P.R. station at Winnipeg narrowly escaped destruction by fire a few mornings ago. A coal oil lamp exploded in one of the rooms and the liquid fiery oil was running over the floor and table. Fortunately the caretaker heard the explosion and saw the flames and succeeded in extinguishing the latter. It was a narrow escape, and the building being of wood would have been sure to have gone had the fire once got fair hold.

The English corporation which recently purchased the property at the northwest corner of Portage Avenue and Main Street is to pay over half the cash on the 15th of next February. Just as soon as the present leases expire, which will be the next fall, it is the intention of the English company to erect a large arcade, running from Main Street back to Albert Street. The roof of the arcade will be arched and will be made of glass, and on each side of the building there will be small stores, exactly similar to the Lowther and Burlington Arcades, in London, England. It is intended to make this building a most handsome and finished one, no expense being spared upon it. As soon as the present leases expire, the wooden tenements now occupying the ground will be torn down, and the work of building the Arcade will commence.

The whiskey business is in a flourishing condition at Portage. There is no attempt at concealment, and there is no magistrate there to interfere with the traffic. Mr. McCabe is away, and it is doubtful if he will come back. The Dominion police are in a quandary as to how to deal with the matter, and keep on the safe side by letting the liquor vendors severely alone. Chief Sherwood, of the Dominion police, will shortly visit Portage for the purpose of investigating matters, and taking such steps as may be found necessary in order to produce a better state of affairs.

News has been received by the Indian Department of the destruction by fire at the Pigeon reservation, near Fort Macleod, of the building in which the Indian supplies were stored, with a loss of seven hundred sacks of flour. The Indians will not suffer seriously, as they have surplus potatoes equivalent to the flour destroyed.

The Saskatchewan Herald of the 23rd ult. says: "What has gone wrong with the weather? The winter so far has not been so severe as usual, the thermometer frequently ranging as high as forty degrees above zero, and on the 10th and 22nd smart showers of rain fell. One venerable missionary of thirty five years' residence in the country says he never saw this phenomena before. During the past week the prevailing warm winds cut away the snow considerably, and by baring the hill sides overcame the disadvantage to running stock caused by the crust on the snow. A couple of weeks ago there were wild ducks on the open creeks running into Turtle Lake, and during the present week frogs have been sporting in the open springs along the bottom of the hills near town."

Insect Tormentors.

Edward Burke saw nothing but evil in the French Revolution. He expressed his opinion of its noisy leaders by writing them to grasshoppers, "the noisyest of insects," hopping, though he would not admit, insects of the same order as the grasshoppers. If the author had known the insects of France, they would have furnished him with more graphic symbols of detestation. These "noisyest" as an English speaker calls them, are the plague of the land.

There is a flying bug that smells about as bad as a skunk. Its propensity is to droop itself over a golden or tea-cup, causing it at once to smell so offensive as to be unfit to drink. As there are thousands of these insects flying about the traveler's nose often obliges him to turn away the cup of coffee or a glass of water he has just had.

Grasshoppers, while he was in the field, used to perch themselves on his feet away, and take flying leaps at him. One morning, as he was walking over his head, while loathsome spiders wove webs in the tent, grasshoppers, fleas and little beetles ran over his body, driving him almost frantic. One morning, as he was walking over his head, while loathsome spiders wove webs in the tent, grasshoppers, fleas and little beetles ran over his body, driving him almost frantic.

After he had killed it, his native friend told him that the insect's habit was to have hundred claws in the victim's flesh, and then let his body drop. Each claw made a festering wound.

Washing in Madrid.

In Germany, an old custom prevails of having the washing of household linen every two or three times a year. The stock is large, and lasts through the winter. Professional washers go from house to house to cleanse the garments which have lain for months in the dark closets, basket or closet. Such a woman appears a very strange one to American housekeepers. In Madrid, washing is also done by professional men, but the work goes on every day in the year.

For two miles along the banks of the Guadarrama river are little huts in which the washerwomen eat their meals and keep their babies, while from 7 in the morning to 6 in the evening they are their trade in the waters of the river.

About 15,000 women are generally at work in red, brown, blue, yellow and black dresses. It is a curious sight to see thousands plashing in the river, and two miles of clothesline covered with white linen.

In summer, the work is pleasant, but in winter hard and bitter, with the icy winds sweeping down from the snow-covered hills. But they labor as cheerfully in winter as in summer, with their simple meals. They are content with their wages, which do not average more than 40 cents a day.

The Honorable Profession of "Askers."

It is probable that few people are aware of the definite and lucrative profession of that of the regular beggar. In many cases it is a hereditary calling, as that of the Housewife, or epic singers of the Asquiths, or leaders of the Asquiths. At the acquaintance of the writer's happened the other night to light upon a member of the profession who was rehearsing himself in a public house. He was a stout middle-aged man, apparently in good case. "I never did a day's work in my life," said the man, in the course of conversation, "neither did my father before me, nor his father before him, and I shall take good care that my children shall not do it."

"Askers" is, it seems, the pleasing euphemism by which this band of the lower class is accustomed to designate their ingrateful life. A lady of our acquaintance asked a brisk young parlor maid, who had given her notice as being about to be married, "What is the employment of your husband that is to be?" "He is an asker, ma'am," was the reply. "But what is an asker?" Further questions were rather put aside, but it turned out that by an "asker" was meant a professional beggar. The young lady had a strong belief, which was probably justified by the result, that an "asker" would be able to support her in comfort. -Pall Mall Gazette.

A Famous Place of One House.

Chancellorville is a desolate clearing on the southern edge of the wilderness. One was when a hundred Virginians of the first families clung to places in the long dining-hall of the hostelry, and many a day did Jefferson, Madison, and those who came after, take a noon-tide rest under the surrounding elms. But the place of the plank-road are gone. Coaches and four no longer shake dust from the shallow ruts of the pike, and lovers no longer seek the tavern as the halcyon to Grotto Green. In the old days the Chancellor house was a massive brick building, shaped like a squat T. Around it on every side were level fields that stretched for a quarter of a mile or more, while three important stage roads came together in front of the yard. Now only one-third of the building—the northern end—stands, and even that had to be re-erected after battle, when the left nothing but bare walls, shot and shell and bullet pierced. From the northern end of this poor remnant of the famous inn stood on five pieces of cannon—bombs that, as Mr. Oliver Jones, now set play the mischief. Above these things is a ragged rent in the gable and over the roof, showing where shells worked for admission as they passed over the screaming flight eighteen years ago. The porch pillar, near which Becker had the misfortune to stand when it was shattered by a round shot, was destroyed by fire, and in the place of the pillars are wooden columns for his support and without a scratch. In the hall the visitor sees the outlines of the old house marked by chairs, work, and stove bricks, while a dozen sweet holly-hocks growing near the porch remind us of the garden beauty long since lost.

PRACTICAL ARITHMETIC.

You can't add different things together, said an Austin school teacher. "You can't add a sheep and a cow together, it does not make two sheep or two cows." The son of an Austin-aver, who, held up his hand and said, "I can add a sheep and a cow together, it makes two sheep and two cows." -Transcript.

BRANDON BUDGET.

The new Methodist church, at Chater, will be dedicated on Sabbath.

There was no meeting of the school board held last night in the school house.

Messrs. McKenzie and Russell have nearly completed the ironworks and grating in the police cells.

The passenger train from the west, due at 11:50 a. m. yesterday arrived last night at 12:15 o'clock.

The maximum number of degrees shown by the thermometer up till 10 o'clock last night was 22 below zero.

The fancy dress carnival given by the band boys to-night at the skating rink promises to be a brilliant success.

Mr. Williams, commission merchant and auctioneer, is doing a big trade in fur coats—gives warmth and makes happy.

The merchants are denouncing in righteous terms, the delay on account of the Customs Authorities in Winnipeg, the arrival of their goods.

The 4th street tank is complete as regards the wood work. The workmen are now laying the iron hoops over, and expect to finish in a few days.

Electioners will remember that tomorrow is the day to vote for the city, the voting in Brandon will be under the old Act.

John Parker, our deaf and dumb expression-man has got up a neat card of original design. On one side it gives particulars about receiving baggage, and on the other side travellers' guide for the western division, train service of C. P. R.

Mr. George McDougall goes out to his farm to-day at Langvale. He discards the idea of horse and sleigh and goes out on snow shoes.

Robert Steele has just arrived in the city from Southern Manitoba. He reports very little snow especially in the vicinity of Grand Rapids.

Some time ago Mr. Foster obtained cancellation for a claim of Mr. Forster, on which there were improvements to the extent of a house, and several acres broken. Another claimant comes on the scene in the person of Mr. Lawrence, who declares the house his. The matter is not yet settled, meanwhile Mr. Jackson looks after the interests of Mr. Foster, who is at present in Ontario.

The evening hardly gets to its full back in reference to the council and the appointment of a polling place at South City. This has been the twenty-fifth time the faithful (?) journal has been called upon to retract statements which were the effluvia of his decreased imagination, and the excuse of "being misinformed" is now worn nearly threadbare, and a new excuse should at once be forthcoming.

The Transit House is now vacant, and a popular hotel keeper and caterer pro tempore is in the city, we understand, negotiating for the renting of that hotel. Should it fall into the hands of that gentleman, the people of Brandon may congratulate themselves on getting such a competent person and who is in every sense the "right man in the right place."

Harry Manley from Philadelphia intends shortly opening up a gymnasium in this city, and is meanwhile looking up a suitable place. Mr. Manley, we understand, has been trained in a hard school under Madden, of New York, Sullivan's trainer and Hennessy, also under the tutelage of Prof. Baldwin, of Sydney. He intends giving lessons in boxing, sword-exercise, fencing and wrestling, and we have reason to believe that Mr. Manley is a champion in these things.

PERSONALS.

Thomas A. Gorham, claim agent of the C. P. R., is in the city settling some claims.

Mr. Niblock, train master on the C. P. R., is in the city and staying at the Rambler House.

VERIDON.

Sifted Again Left.

Two to One in Favor of Mr. Woodworth.

FROM THE OWN LITERATURE.

As a rule the Sun never appears without producing for the public gaze something startling. In fact to this it owes its existence probably. But really in last night's issue it surpasses any former effort. The report of Mr. Sifton's meeting at Verdon, over which it goes into such ecstasies of delight, is simply "hook" from beginning to end. There can be no doubt as to the power and effect of Mr. Woodworth's speech upon the meeting. Again and again it was convulsed with laughter at the worthy speaker's pungent remarks and criticisms upon Mr. Sifton's policy and the party which he presumably represents. Some idea of the state of feeling at the above mentioned place can be formed from the fact that no Grit could or would fill the chair, and after repeated attempts they had to nominate a staunch Conservative to preside over the meeting, however the absurdity of the position was too apparent to him, and he therefore begged to be excused. After every Grit in the room had been requested to fill the chair, Mr. Meek was almost by physical force placed there. Nothing could be more encouraging than the manner in which the meeting rose to their feet and cheered Mr. Woodworth first, and then a handful of poor Reformers raised a faint "quack" for Mr. Sifton. If there is anything in this over which the Sun can crow, why, it falls to merit. The majority for Mr. Woodworth in Verdon alone will be two to one.

Affection.

Affection of any kind evinces a great want of truthfulness and a greater want of common sense. They who cannot make show of a good natural character may be sure they cannot sustain, without discovery, one that is artificial. At some time or other the mask will fall off and the plain features of nature be exposed to view. The quickest observers of affection are the affected themselves; and as there are a few who are simple, natural and unaffected in their manners, there are fewer still who have not, at some time or other, endeavored to make nature subservient to act in this way. In attempting to impose a false character upon them, as they are older, they will discover that we are only disguised in a habit which they had worn themselves and through out.
